Site Support Pack: Conditions of Use

In purchasing a Site Support Pack for Imperium Latin Unseens, you must agree to the following Conditions of Use, which model those of a Site Licence. It is important to protect the future development of these materials, to ensure that when updates and changes are made, they can be controlled and released to the people who need them. So this agreement is important to all concerned.

The over-riding condition is that you should protect the materials in your institution, for use only by teachers and students of the course. You should not upload any of these materials into an area where they can downloaded by the outside world.

Some of the components of the Site Support Pack are restricted or targeted in certain ways, and a list follows of things you should be aware of in deploying these resources.

Mark Schemes & Translations.pdf

This file is not for students to see or keep, but rather for use in restricted ways. For this reason it is password-protected. If you have bought the Site Support Pack, please email me (julian@imperiumlatin.com) and I will send you the password.

You should note that the translations are not offered up as being model examples of excellent technique. Rather, they aim to show how the Latin language works, by modelling the English as closely as possible on the linguistic structures of the original words used.

The mark schemes have been constructed out of 50 for most passages. Teachers may wish to adapt these to suit their own requirements.

The pdf file can be installed onto computers, notebooks or tablets. It can be printed and circulated. It should not be made available in an unmonitored way to students.

Imperium Latin Unseens MP3 files

A brief and quick-moving audio file explanation is included for each of the 80 passages from Imperium Latin Unseens. In total, these files take up more than 10 hours. The recordings may be stored in a location where students can access them. They could be central in creating a Blended Learning environment and you may wish to try using them in different ways, though in general terms, you should be aware that they may be most useful to students who have already tried to work on the passages concerned. It is possible that some teachers may find them useful too. Please note that these files can also be purchased separately by students from their area of our website.

Imperium Unseen Tools App for Mac OSX, Windows and Linux computers

The App can be installed on as many computers as you like within your institution. It is not to be given to students for installation on their computers at home, however. Please note that if you need versions for Android or iOS devices, you will have to buy these separately from Amazon, Google Play or the App Store. Students may be encouraged to buy their own versions for use on their mobile devices or for whatever systems they have available to them at home.
